

Directions to the Carnegie Mellon University CIC Building

Directions and maps are provided below. There is limited parking around the building, but there is a parking garage underneath the building. Parking is at an hourly rate; a full day is $16.

Using a Hotel Shuttle or Taxi from Oakland

Ask the driver to take you to the CIC building at Carnegie Mellon University. This building is at the western perimeter of the campus, next to Hamburg Hall.

- Follow Forbes Avenue past Craig Street.
- Cross the bridge and turn right into the driveway. The CIC building is on your right.
- There are two entrances; enter the building through the entrance closest to Forbes Avenue. A registration desk will be located just inside the entrance.

Driving from Oakland and Parking at CIC

- Head east out of Oakland on Forbes Avenue.
- Turn left onto South Bellefield. Stay in right lane.
- Turn right onto Fifth Avenue.
- At the third light, turn right onto South Neville Street and proceed down the hill.
- At the bottom of the hill, before you cross the railroad tracks, you will see driveway on your left that leads into a parking garage. This is the CIC parking garage.
- Take a ticket when you enter the garage, and make sure to take the ticket with you when you leave your car.
- Find the elevator bay that has a set of two elevators (they face South Neville Street).
- Take the elevator to level L. When you exit the elevator, you will see the parking ticket machines.
- Exit the elevator bay and turn left. Walk around the staircase and enter the hallway on your left.
- Follow the hallway until you come to a wall with a door on either side of you.
- Proceed through the doorway on your right, and turn left. You will see a registration desk in the open area.
