Submit Presentations for FloCon2008!

FloCon is an open workshop that provides a forum for operational analysts, tool developers, and other parties interested in the security analysis of large volumes of traffic to develop the next generation of flow-based analysis.

We are looking for presentations that

- encourage discussion of productive methods

- describe useful experiences in flow analysis

- present innovative solutions in security analysis

Submission deadline for abstracts:

Midnight, Friday, October 5, 2007 (EDT)

Visit www.cert.org/flocon for more information.
